Haфиз Abū’l-Faraj ibn Rajab al-Ḥanbalī

He is the Imām and Haфиз, Zaynu’l-Dīn ‘Abdur-Raḥmān ibn Aḥmad ibn ‘Abdir-Raḥmān ibn al-Ḥasan ibn Muḥammad ibn Abū- l-Barakāt Mas‘ūd al-Sulamī al-Ḥanbalī al-Dimashqī. His agnomen was Abū’l-Faraj, and his nickname was Ibn Rajab, which was the nickname of his grandfather who was born in that month.

He was born in Baghdād in 736H and was raised by a knowledgeable and pious family. He died on a Monday night, the fourth of Ramaḍān, 795H in al-Ḫumariyyah, Damascus.

Many students of knowledge came to him to study under him.
Amongst the most famous of his students were: Abū’l-‘Abbās Abū Bakr ibn ‘Alī al-Ḥanbālī; Abū’l-Faḍl Abū Ḥmad ibn Naṣr ibn Abū Ḥmad; Dāwūd ibn Sulaymān al-Mawsilī; ‘Abdu’l-Raḥmān ibn Abū Ḥmad ibn Muḥammad al-Muqrī; Zaynū’l-Ḥanī ‘Abdu’l-Raḥmān ibn Sulaymān ibn Abū’l-Karam; Abū Dharr al-Zarkashi; al-Qāḍī ‘Alā’u’l-Dīn ibn al-Lahām al-Ba’lī; and Abū Ḥmad ibn Ṣayfū’l-Dīn al-Ḥamawī.

Ibn Rajab devoted himself to knowledge and spent the vast majority of his time researching, writing, authoring, teaching, and giving legal rulings.

Many scholars praised him for his vast knowledge, asceticism and expertise in the Ḥanbālī school of thought. Ibn Qāḍī Shuhbah said of him, ‘He read and became proficient in the various fields of science. He engrossed himself with the issues of the madhhab until he mastered it. He devoted himself to the occupation of knowledge of the texts, defects and meanings of the ḥadith.’

Ibn Ḥajr said of him, ‘He was highly proficient in the science of ḥadith in terms of the names of reporters, their biographies, their paths of narration and awareness of their meanings.’

Ibn Muṭṭaḥ said of him, ‘He is the Shaykh, the great scholar, the Ḥāfīz, the ascetic, the Shaykh of the Ḥanbālī madhhab and he authored many beneficial works.’

He wrote many beneficial works, some of them outstanding such as al-Qawa'id al-Kubrā fi'l-Furu', about which it was said, 'It is one of the wonders of this age.' His commentary to at-Tirmidhī is said to be the most extensive and best ever written so much so that al-'Irāqi; about whom ibn Ḥajr said, 'He was the wonder of his age'; would ask for his help when compiling his own commentary to the same book.

- Moreover he has many valuable monographs explaining various aḥādith such as: Sharḥ Ḥadīth Mā Dhiqānāni Jārīn Ursilā fi Ghanām, Ikhtiyār al-Awāl Sharḥ Ḥadīth Ikhtisām al-Malā' al-A'lā, Nūr al-Iqṭibās fi Sharḥ Wasiyyah al-Nābi li ibn ‘Abbās, and Kashfū'l-Kurban fi Wasfi Ḥāli Abīl-Ghurbah.

- In exegesis his works include: Tafsir Sūrah al-Ikhlās, Tafsir Sūrah al-Fātiḥah, Tafsir Sūrah al-Naṣr, and al-Istighnā bi'l-Qur'ān.

- In hadīth his works include: Sharḥ 'Ilal al-Tirmidhī, Fathu'l-Bārī Sharḥ Sahih al-Bukhārī, and Jāmi' al-'Ulūm wa'l-Ḥikam.

- In fiqh his works include: al-Istikhrāj fi Aḥkām al-Kharāj, and al-Qawā'id al-Fiqhīyyah.

- In biographies his works include the monumental Dhāyil 'alā Ṭabaqātī'l-Ḥanābilah.

- In exhortation his works include: Laṭā'if al-Ma'ārif and al-Takhwif min al-Nār.

CHAPTER ONE

Khushū’

With the Name of Allāh, the All-Merciful, the Most Merciful
It is His aid that we seek and “all praise is due to Allāh, Lord of the Worlds.”

The Ḥāfīz and ‘Allāmah, Zayn al-Dīn ibn al-Shaykh Abū’l-‘Abbās Ahmad ibn Rajab, may Allāh fill his life with blessings, said:

This is a treatise we have written concerning humility (khushū’) and the hearts meekness and breaking (inkisār)\(^1\) before the Lord.

All praise is due to Allāh, mender of hearts which have broken for His sake and, by His grace, forgiver of the sins of the penitent. I testify that none has the right to be worshipped save Allāh Alone; He has no partners and there is nothing like Him. I testify that Muḥammad is His servant and Messenger; He sent him with \(^1\) The term ‘broken heart’ refers to a heart that is filled with humility, subservience, and quietude as a result of its love and awe of Allāh, Most High.

guidance and the Religion of Truth that it may reign supreme over all religions.² He gave him the choice of being a Prophet-King or a Messenger-Servant and he chose the station of servitude coupled with messengership.³

He (ﷺ) would say, “O Allāh, make me live as one lowly and humble (miskin), make me die as one lowly and humble, and resurrect me amongst the ranks of the lowly and humble,”⁴ thereby alluding to the nobility and excellence of this station. Peace and blessings be upon him, his family, his Companions, and those who hold tightly to his rope after him.

In His Book, Allāh, Glorious and Most High, has commended those who are meek (mukhibbî) before Him, and those who have broken in the face of His grandeur; rendered submissive (khādi') and humble (khāshī') in its presence. He, Most High, says,

![Quran verse]

² as Allāh says, “It is He who has sent His Messenger with guidance and the Religion of Truth to exalt it over every other religion even though the polytheists detest it.” [al-Tawbah (9): 33] cf. al-Fath (48): 28 and al-Šaff (61): 9

³ The discussion on this will follow in the third chapter.

⁴ Tirmidhî #2352 on the authority of Anas and he said it was gharîb, ibn Mājah #4126 on the authority of Abū Sa‘īd, and Tabarānî, al-Du‘ā on the authority of 'Ubadah ibn al-Šāmit, all with da‘īf isnâds, however the hadîth is sahih.

It was also recorded on the authority of Abu Sa‘īd by Hâkim #7911 who said it was sahih with Dhahabi agreeing; it was also ruled sahih by Suyūtî, al-Jāmi‘ al-Šaghîr #1454, and Albâni, Saḥîh al-Jâmi‘ #1261, al-Šâbîhâb #308, al-Irâwâ #861. cf. Sakhâwî, Maqâṣid al-Hasanah #166
"They outdid each other in good actions, calling out to Us in yearning and awe, and humbling themselves to Us."

"...men and women who are humble, men and women who give in charity, men and women who fast, men and women who guard their private parts, men and women who remember Allāh much: Allāh has prepared forgiveness for them and an immense reward."

He describes the believers as those who have khushū in the best action of worship they perform, and perform diligently,

"It is the believers who are successful: those who are humble in their prayer..."
He describes those who have been granted knowledge as people having khushū‘ when they hear His words rehearsed to them,

إِنَّ الْذِّينَ أُوْلِيَ الْأَلْبَانَ مِنْ قَبْلِهِ إِذَا يُقَلِّلُونَ عَلَيْهِمْ مُجَّرُونَ لِلَّذِينَ أَدْفَنُوا سَجْدَةً وَلَبَّأُونَ أَمَرَاهُمْ وَعَزِرَتِنا لِمَعْوَلَةً وَعَزِرَتِنَا لِلَّذِينَ أَكْبَرُونَ وَرَزَعْنَهُمْ خَصُومًا

“Certainly, when it is recited to them, those who were given knowledge fall on their faces in prostration, saying, ‘Glory be to our Lord! The promise of our Lord is truly fulfilled!’ Weeping, they fall to the ground in prostration, and it increases them in humility.”

The Meaning of Khushū‘

The basic meaning of khushū‘ is the softness of the heart, its being gentle, still, submissive, broken, and yearning. The Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) said, “Of a surety there is a morsel of flesh in the body, if it is sound, the whole body will be sound, but if it is corrupt, the whole body will be corrupt. It is the heart.”

When the heart is humble, so too is the hearing, seeing, head, and face; indeed all the limbs and their actions are humbled, even speech. This is why the Prophet (ﷺ) would say in his bowing

'i.e. being humble and meek (mutawādī').

Allah, Most High, has described the earth as having khushū‘ in his words,

وَمِنْ أَنْبِيَاتِنَا بَنْى عَرَاشٍ مَّنْ تَرَى الْأَرْضَ عَطِيَّةً فَإِذَا أَنْزَلْنَا عَلَيْهَا الْمَالَ

bene and then when We send down water on it, it quivers and swells.”

The meaning of its quivering and swelling is that its bareness and stillness (khāshū) has been removed and in its place vegetation grows. This then shows that the khāshū that it had was stillness, lowness, and lack of growth. The same applies to the heart: when it has khāshū, its base desires and thoughts arising from the following of carnal lusts are laid to rest, and it breaks and submits to Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent. Khāshū replaces the hearts remoteness, haughtiness, arrogance, and lordliness. When it settles in the heart, the limbs, organs, and motions - even the voice - are stillled. Allāh, Most High, has stated that voices have khāshū in His words,

"Voices will be humbled before the All-Merciful and nothing but a whisper will be heard.”

The humility of voices refers to their being stillled and quieted after being clamorous.

In a similar vein, Allāh has described the faces and sight of the disbelievers with khushū’ on the Day of Rising. This then proves that all of these limbs can have khushū’.

Hypocritical Humility

When a person affects khushū’, displaying it on his limbs while his heart is devoid of it, he has fallen prey to hypocritical khushū’ (khushū’ nifāq) and this is what the Salaf would seek refuge from. One of them would say, ‘Take refuge with Allāh from hypocritical khushū’.’ When asked what it was, he replied, ‘That you see the body humble and submissive while the heart is not.’

‘Umar (raḍī Allāhu ʿanhu) saw a person with his head lowered and said, ‘O such-and-such raise your head for khushū’ does not extend beyond what is in the heart.’ Whoever outwardly displays more khushū’ than is present in his heart is guilty of hypocrisy on top of hypocrisy.

29 Refer to Appendix 1 for a further discussion on the meaning and import of khushū’.

30 Ahmad, al-Zubd, pg. 142 and ibn al-Mubārak, al-Zubd #143 on the authority of Abū al-Dardā’.

31 Bayhaqī, Shuʿab #6968 records a similar statement from Sufyān. Refer to Appendix Two for a discussion on hypocritical khushū’.
The Source of khushū‘

The source of the khushū‘ that takes place in the heart is the gnosis of Allāh’s greatness, magnificence, and perfection. The more gnosis a person has of Allāh, the more khushū‘ he has.

The hearts vary in their khushū‘ in accordance to the gnosis they have of the One they have humbled to, and in accordance to the hearts’ witnessing the Attributes that lead to khushū‘. Some hearts are humbled by the strength of their perceiving His closeness to His servants and His seeing their innermost secrets which leads to being shy of Him, Most High, and constantly being aware of Him in every state of motion or stillness. Some hearts are humbled through their perceiving the magnificence of Allāh, His greatness, and His grandeur which leads to being in awe of Him and magnifying Him. Some hearts are humbled through perceiving His perfection and beauty which leads to drowning in the love of Him and the desire to meet and see Him. Some hearts are humbled through perceiving the enormity of His seizure, vengeance, and punishment which leads to fearing Him.

He, Glorious is He, is the mender of hearts that have broken for His sake. He, Glorious is He, comes close to hearts that are filled with humility to Him in the same way that He comes close to one who is standing in prayer, privately discoursing with Him;\(^\text{32}\) in the same way that He comes close to one who rubs his face in \(^{32}\) Hākim #861 records on the authority of Abū Hurayrah that the Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) said: “When any one of you stands to pray, he is conversing with his Lord, so let him pay attention to how he speaks to Him.” It was ruled ṣahīḥ by Hākim with Dhahabī agreeing, and Albānī, Ṣaḥīḥ al-Jāmi‘ #1538

the dust when prostrating;\textsuperscript{33} in the same way that He draws near to the throngs of people visiting His House standing in abject humility at 'Arafah, drawing close and boasting about them to the angels;\textsuperscript{34} in the same way that He comes close to His servants when they invoke Him, ask of Him, and seek His forgiveness in the early hours of the morning, and He answers their supplications and grants their requests.\textsuperscript{35}

\textsuperscript{33} Muslim #482 records on the authority of Abū Hurayrah that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, "The closest a servant is to his Lord is when he is prostrating."

\textsuperscript{34} Ibn Hibbān #3853 records on the authority of Jābir that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, "No other days are better to Allāh than the first ten days of Dhūl-Hijjah." The narrator said, 'A man asked, "O Allāh's Messenger! Are these days better or a similar number of days of fighting in the way of Allāh?" The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "These days are better than a same number of days of fighting for the sake of Allāh. No other day is better with Allāh than the day of 'Arafah when He descends to the lowest heaven and boasts of the people on earth to the inhabitants of heaven, saying, 'Look at My servants who have come with grown hair, covered with dust, exposed to the sun, to perform Hajj. They have come by every distant road hoping for My mercy though they have not seen My punishment.' So there is no other day than the day of 'Arafah when more people are released from the Fire.'"

Muslim #1348 records on the authority of 'Ā'ishah that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, "There is no day on which Allāh releases more servants from the Fire than the Day of 'Arafah. He comes close and then boasts to the angels saying, 'What do they want?"

\textsuperscript{35} Bukhārī #1145-6321-7494 and Muslim #756/1772-1778 record on the authority of Abū Hurayrah that the Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) said, "Every night, when the last third of the night remains, our Lord, Blessed and Exalted is He, descends to the lowest heaven and says, 'Is there anyone who invokes Me that I may respond? Is there anyone asking of Me that I may give it to him? Is there anyone who asking My forgiveness that I may forgive him?""

The issue related to this are covered in some detail by the author in the fourth chapter of his The Journey to Allāh (Published by Daar as-Sunnah Publishers)
There is nothing that tends to the brokenness of the servant more than closeness and response.

Imām Ahmad, may Allāh have mercy on him, records in his book, al-Zuhd, with his isnād to ʿImrān ibn al-Quṣayr who said, ʿMūsā ibn ʿImrān said, “My Lord, where should I seek You?” He replied, “Seek Me with those whose hearts have broken for My sake. Every day I come close to them by one arm-span and were it not for this, they would surely perish.”

Ibrāhīm ibn al-Junaid, may Allāh have mercy on him, records in his book, al-Mahabbah, with his isnād to Jaʿfar ibn Sulaymān who said, ‘I heard Mālik ibn Dīnār saying, “Mūsā (ʿalayhi-s-salām) asked, ‘My God, where should I seek You?’ Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent, revealed to him, ‘Mūsā, seek Me with those whose hearts have broken for My sake for I draw closer to them by an arm-span every day, and were it not for this, they would surely perish.’” I asked Mālik ibn Dīnār, “What does broken hearts mean?” He replied, “I asked this question to one who rehearsed the scriptures and he said that he had asked this same question to ʿAbdullāh ibn al-Salām who replied, ‘Broken hearts refers to those that have broken for the love of Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent, rather than the love of anything else.’”

The authentic Sunnah proves that Allāh is close to the heart that is broken by His tribulation, patient at His decree, and content. Muslim records on the authority of Abū Hurayrah that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent, will say on the Day of Rising, ‘O son of Ādam, I was ill yet you did not visit Me.’ He will say, ‘My Lord, how could I visit You while You are the Lord of the worlds!’ He will reply, ‘Did you not know that such-and-such a servant of mine was ill yet you did not visit him? Did you not know that, were you to have visited him, you would have found Me with him?"37

Abū Nuʿaym records via the route of Ḍamrah that ibn Shawdhab said, ‘Allāh, Most High, revealed to Mūsā (‘alayhis-salām), “Do you know why, from all people, I chose you for My message and speech?” He replied, “No, my Lord.” He replied, “Because none was as modest and humble before Me as you were.”38

The first thing to be lost is khushūʿ

This modesty and humility of his was none other than khushūʿ, and that is beneficial knowledge, and that is the first thing to be raised of knowledge. Nasāʾī records the ḥadīth of Jubayr ibn Nufayr (rāḍi Allāhu ‘anhu) on the authority of ‘Awf ibn Mālik (rāḍi Allāhu ‘anhu) that, one day, the Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) looked at the sky and said, “This is the vessel to which knowledge will be raised.” A man from the Anṣār called Ziyād ibn Labid said, ‘Messenger of Allāh, how is it that knowledge will be raised now that it has become firm and the hearts have preserved it?’ He replied, “I thought that you were the most intelligent of Madinah’s people!” He then went on to mention the misguidance of the Jews and Christians despite their having the Book of Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent. (Jubayr) said, ‘So I met Shaddād ibn Aws and narrated this ḥadīth to him and he said, “‘Awf has spoken truthfully, should I not tell you the first part of knowledge to be raised?” I replied, “Of course!” He said, “Khusbu’, until the time will come that you will not see a single person having it.”

37 Muslim #2569

38 Abū Nuʿaym, al-Ḥiyyah, vol. 6, pg. 130

A similar ḥadīth is also recorded by Tirmidhī via Jubayr ibn Nufayr on the authority of Abū al-Dardā’ from the Prophet (ﷺ). The end of this ḥadīth has, ‘Jubayr said, “So I met ‘Ubādah ibn al-Ṣāmit and I said to him, ‘Will you not hear something from me that I heard from your brother, Abū al-Dardā’?’ I narrated to him what Abū al-Dardā’ had narrated to me. He said, ‘Abū al-Dardā’ has spoken truthfully. If you wish, I will narrate to you about the first knowledge to be raised from the people: khusbu’. Soon will come a time when you will enter a large Masjid and not see a single person having it.”

It is said that the version of Nasā’ī is the stronger version.

Sa‘īd ibn Bashīr narrated on the authority of Qatādah, on the authority of al-Ḥasan, may Allāh have mercy on him, on the authority of Shaddād ibn Aws that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “The first knowledge to be raised from the people will be khusbu’.”

It is also authentically reported as a statement of Shaddād ibn Aws as stated by Mundhirī, al-Targhib # 773.

This was also recorded by Abū Bakr ibn Abū Maryam on the authority of Ḍamrah ibn Ḥabīb as a mursal hadīth. A similar statement is also reported as the words of Ḥudhayfah.

Beneficial Knowledge

Beneficial knowledge is that which impresses itself on the heart leading to its quietude and humility, its being meek and shy before Allāh, and its breaking for His sake. If knowledge does not impress upon the heart in this way and, instead, is merely something spoken on the tongue, it becomes the proof of Allāh against the son of Ādam which will be established against him and others. Ibn Masʿūd said, ‘There are people who recite the Qurʾān yet it does not descend beyond their throats; were it to reach the heart and take root therein, it is then that it would benefit.’

Ibn al-Mubārak, al-Zubd #175 also records this as a statement of Abū Yazīd al-Madāni.

Ṭabarānī, al-Kabīr, records on the authority of Abū al-Dardāʾ that the Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) said, “The first thing to be raised from this nation will be khusbūʿ until you will not see a single person from it having it.” Mundhirī #773 said the isnād was ḥasan as did Haythamī, Majmaʿ al-Zawā'id, vol. 2, pg. 136. Muslim #822 al-Hasan said, 'Knowledge is of two types: knowledge that is superficial utterance upon the tongue, that is Allāh’s proof against the children of Ādam; and knowledge that takes root in the heart and that is beneficial knowledge.'

This is also reported by al-Ḥasan, may Allāh have mercy on him, from the Prophet (ﷺ) as a mursal ḥadīth. He also reports it from Jābir (rādīy Allāhu ‘anhu) and Anas (rādīy Allāhu ‘anhu) to the Prophet (ﷺ), but it is not authentic as a ḥadīth of his (ﷺ).

Hence the Prophet (ﷺ) informed us that despite the knowledge that the People of the Book were given being readily available to them, they did not benefit from any of it since the primary goal behind this knowledge was missing, i.e. its reaching their hearts such that they could experience the sweetness of faith and realize its benefit of achieving fear and penitence; instead it remained superficial utterance on their tongues which served only to establish the proof against them.

He states therein, "When knowledge is beneficial and takes root in the heart, the heart fears Allāh, submits to Him, and humbles itself in awe, glorification, fear, love, and veneration. When this happens the soul is content with the humblest of lawful worldly provisions and this in turn leads it to turn away from the world and all

It is for this reason that, in His Book, Alläh, Glorious is He, describes the scholars as those having fear (khâshya),

When this comes to fruition he will find Him close. When this happens, He will bring him close and answer his supplications. It is mentioned in an Judeo-Christian narration, ‘Son of Adam! Seek me and you will find Me, when you find Me you will find everything. However if you don’t find Me, you will have lost everything. I am more beloved to you than anything else.”

He describes the scholars of the People of the Book before us as having khushūʿ,

\text{إِنَّ الْلَّيْلَيْنَ أَوْتُوَ اللَّيْلَمُ مِنْ قَبْلِهِ إِذَا يَنْصَرُونَ}
\text{عليْنِ مِنْ الأَذَافِانِ سُجُدًا ۚ وَيَقُولُونَ سَبِّحْنَ رَبَّنَا إِنَّكَ}
\text{وَعِدْنَا لِلْمُفْعُولِ ۚ وَيَقُولُونَ لِلَّذِينَ يَبْكُونَ وَيَبْكُونَ}
\text{خَشْوَةً}

“Certainly, when it is recited to them, those who were given knowledge before it fall on their faces in prostration saying, ’Glory be to our Lord!’ Weeping, they fall to the ground in prostration, and it increases them in humility.”

This verse eulogises those who, when they hear the Book of Allāh, attain khushūʿ in their hearts. Allāh, Most High, says,

\text{قَوْيَلَ}
\text{غَلَّبَتْ الْقُدُسَّةُ نِقَابَمَهُ مَنْ ذَكَرَ اللَّهَ أَوْ تَكُبَّرَ}

\text{مُسْتَقْبِلُ الْيَوْمِ عَلَى رُءُوسِهِنَّ مُضَلِّلُوهُمْ وَمَنْ مَطَأَهُمْ}
\text{إِلَى ذِكْرِ اللَّهِ}

“Woe to those whose hearts are hardened against the remembrance of Allāh! Such people are clearly misguided. Allāh has sent down the Supreme Discourse, a Book consistent in its frequent repetitions. The skins of those who fear their Lord

\[^{52} al-Isrāʾ (17): 107-109\]
tremble at it and then their skins and hearts yield softly to the remembrance of Allāh.”

The softening of the heart refers to the removal of its hardness due to the onset of khushū’ and gentleness therein.

Allāh has denounced those whose hearts are not humbled when they hear His Book and ponder it,

أَلْهَبْتُ لِلْأَلْبِينَ إِنْ تُصْحِبُوا صُلْبُهُمْ لِحُكْمِي إِلَى رَبِّي
وَمَأْتِئْكَ يَمُتُّونَ وَلَا يَكُونُوا كَالْأَلْبِينَ أوُلَمْ نَكُنْ بِمِنْ قَبْلِ
فَطَالَ عَلَيْهِمْ الْأَمَامُ فَقَسَّمَ فُلُوْهُمْ وَكَبْرَ مِنْهُمْ فَسَفِيَّتُوهُ

"Has the time not arrived for the hearts of those who have faith to yield to the remembrance of Allāh and to the truth He has sent down, so they are not like those who were given the Book before for whom the time seemed over long so that their hearts became hard? Many of them are deviators."

Ibn Mas‘ūd (radī Allāhu ‘anhu) said, ‘The time between our accepting Islām and being rebuked by this verse was four years.’ This was recorded by Muslim. It was also recorded by others

Many of the righteous would be gravely affected when this verse was recited to them. Some would die because their hearts burst at hearing it, and others repented and abandoned whatever they were previously doing. We have mentioned their narratives in (our) book, \textit{al-Istīghnā’ bi’l-Qurān}.

Allāh, Most High, says,

Mālik ibn Dinār, may Allāh have mercy on him, would recite this verse and say, ‘I swear to you, no servant believes in this Qur’ān except that it causes his heart to burst.’\footnote{Suyūṭī, \textit{al-Durr}, vol. 14, pg. 396 references this ibn al-Mundhir.}

It is reported that al-Ḥasan, may Allāh have mercy on him, said, ‘Son of Ādam, when Shayṭān whispers to you, enticing you to commit a sin, or your soul desires to commit it, remind yourself of what Allāh has burdened you with of His Book which, were a mountain to bear it, it would have been humbled and broken. Have you not heard his saying,

\begin{quote}

أَوْلَّا أَنْهَكُنا

Allāh has only propounded parables that you ponder them, carefully consider them, and refrain from disobeying Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent. You, son of Ādam, have a greater duty to yield to the remembrance of Allāh, and to what He has burdened you.
with of His Book and given you of His laws (than the mountains) since you will be judged and then find your final abode in Paradise or Hell.

The Prophet (ﷺ) would seek refuge with Allah from a heart that does not have ḫubṣūr as recorded by Muslim with the words, "Allah! I take refuge with You from knowledge that does not benefit; from a heart that has no fear; from a soul that is never content; and from an invocation (daʿwāl) that is not responded to."⁶⁵

This hadith is reported via many different routes.

It is reported that Kaʿb al-Aḥbār said, 'It is written in the Injil, "Isā, the deeds of a heart that has no fear are of no benefit, his voice is not heard, and his supplication is not raised.'"

⁶⁴ The author has redacted this from the words of Daḥḥāk in commentary to this verse. Cf. Suyūṭī, al-Durr, vol. 14, pg. 396

⁶⁵ Muslim #2722 on the authority of Zayd ibn Arqam.
The True Slaves of Allāh

Asad ibn Mūsā said in his book, al-Wara: Mubārak ibn Fadālah narrated to us that al-Ḥasan, may Allāh have mercy on him, would say, ‘When this call from Allāh reached the believers, they believe in it, certainty quickly settled in their hearts, and, as a result, their hearts, limbs, and sight were humbled. By Allāh, were you to have seen them, you would have seen a people who truly exemplified (these verses); by Allāh, they were not given to argumentation or falsehood. They found no source of tranquillity except the Book of Allāh. They did not display what was not in their hearts. When a command came to them from Allāh, they believed it and so, in the Qur’ān, Allāh described them in the best of ways, saying,

وَعَبَرَ الْثَّلَاثُ المُرَكَّبُ بِمَسْتَحْنَوْنَ عَلَى اللَّيْلاَتِ الْأَمْسِيَاتِ

“The slaves of the All-Merciful are those who walk lightly on the earth...”\(^{66}\)

al-Ḥasan said, ‘Walking lightly, hawn, in the Arabic language means walking with tranquillity and dignity.’\(^{67}\) Then he commented on,

وَلَيُخَاطَبُهُمْ الْجَدِيِّدَاتُ فَأَلْوَسْنَٰا

“...and who, when the ignorant speak to them, say, ‘Peace,’...”\(^{68}\)

\(^{66}\) al-Furqān (25): 63

\(^{67}\) This was also stated by Mujāhid as recorded by Bayhaqi, Shu‘ab al-īmān #8454 and Abdūl-Razzāq, vol. 2, pg. 71

Ibn ‘Abbās said that it means, ‘In obedience to Allāh, with decency and integrity, and modestly.’ Recorded by Ṭabarî and ibn Abī Ḥātim, vol. 8, pg. 2820

\(^{68}\) al-Furqān (25): 63
by saying, ‘They were forbearing and did not behave ignorantly, and when they were treated foolishly, they forbore.’ By day they would accompany the servants of Allāh in the way mentioned, and then He mentioned that their nights were the best of nights with his words,

وَالَّذِينَ بَلَغَواْ الْيَوْمَيْنِ لِرَبِّهِمْ سَجَدًا وَفَصَلًا

‘...those who pass the night prostrating and standing before their Lord.’

They would stand before Allāh on their feet, and lie their faces on the ground in prostration to their Lord, their tears flowing down their cheeks in fear of Him. By a single command of Allāh they spent the night worshipping Him and by a single command they spent their days in humility to Him.

al-Hasan, may Allāh have mercy on him, said, ‘Then He says,

وَالَّذِينَ يُقَثُّونَ

رَبَّنَا صِرِّفْ عَنَّا عَذَابَ جَهَنَّمَ إِنَّ عَذَابَهَا كَانَ عَظِيمًا

‘...those who say, ‘Our Lord, avert from us the punishment of Hell, its punishment is inescapable pain.’”

69 A similar statement was made by Qatādah as recorded by ibn Abī Hātim, vol. 8, pg. 2721

70 This portion is also recorded by Bayhaqī, Sb‘āb #8452 and Tābarī

71 al-Furgān (25): 64

72 al-Furgān (25): 65
Everything that afflicts a person and then leaves is not gharâm; gharâm refers to something that never leaves for as long the heavens and the earth endure. They were truthful! By Allāh besides whom there is none worthy of worship, they worked deeds and did not rely on vain hopes, so, may Allāh have mercy on you, beware of these idle hopes for Allāh does not grant any good to a servant in this world or the next merely for idle hopes.’ He would say, ‘What an excellent exhortation it is, if only the hearts were alive and thereby preserved it!’

CHAPTER TWO

The Prayer

Allāh, Most High, has legislated different types of worship that would allow khusbū' to develop on the bodies, which in turn arises from the khusbū' of the heart, its meekness and brokenness.

Khusbū' in Prayer

The greatest action of worship which manifests the khusbū' of the body to Allāh is the prayer (salāh). Allāh has praised those who have khusbū' in the prayer with his words,

أَلْلَّهُ هُمَّ فِي صَلاَتِهِمْ خَشْيَةٌ

"...those who are humble in their prayer..."\(^\text{\textsuperscript{75}}\)

i.e. those who are humble and meek in their prayer, not knowing who is standing on their left or right,\(^\text{\textsuperscript{76}}\) and neither looking here or there due to their humility before Allāh, Mighty and

\(^\text{\textsuperscript{75}}\) al-Mulimān (23): 2

\(^\text{\textsuperscript{76}}\) as was stated by al-Hakām and recorded by ibn Abī Shaybah, vol. 2, pg. 41 Magnificent.

Ibn al-Mubārak said, on the authority of Abū Ja'far, on the authority of Layth that Mujāhid said concerning the saying of Allāh, وَقُومُواْ إِنَّ الْأَمْرَ لِلْلَّهِ...and stand in obedience to Allāh.”

‘Qunūt, obedience, here means to stand calmly with khushū’, to lower the gaze and still the limbs from the awe of Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent.” He also said, ‘When any of the scholars stood for prayer, he would be in such awe of the All-Merciful, Mighty and Magnificent, that his gaze would not swerve, he would not look here and there, he would not play with stones, or do any frivolous action, or talk - i.e. to himself - about anything related to the world unless out of forgetfulness.”

Manṣūr said that Mujāhid, may Allāh have mercy on him, said concerning the saying of Allāh, Most High,

نبيماًهمُّ في وجوههم من آثار السجود

“They mark is on their faces, the traces of

Ibn Abī Ḥātim #2378 records that ibn Mas‘ūd said, ‘The one who is qānit is one who obeys Allāh and His Messenger.’ Ṭabarî records that ibn Zayd said, ‘The one who is qānit is one who does not speak in prayer.’

prostration."

'It means khushū in prayer.'

Imām Aḥmad, Nasāʾī, and Tirmidhī record the ḥadīth of al-Fadl ibn Abbās (radiy Allāhu ‘anhu) that the Prophet (ṣ) said, "The prayer is (performed) two by two, with the tashabbūd being performed after every two rakābats. You should be in a state of humility, humble entreaty, and display your dire need. Then you should raise your hands (in supplication) and say, 'My Lord, my Lord, my Lord' three times. Whoever does not do this, it will be defective.'

Muslim records on the authority of 'Uthmān (radiy Allāhu ‘anhu) that the Prophet (ṣ) said, "There is no Muslim who reaches the time of an obligatory prayer and performs its ablution, khushū; and bowing well except that it will act as an expiation for his previous sins so long as he does not commit a major sin. And this applies for all times."

Actions of prayer conducive to Khushū‘

Amongst the actions that are conducive to having khushū‘, subservience, and brokenness in the prayer is to place one hand on the other when standing. It is reported that Imam Ahmad was asked about this action and he replied, ‘It is to be subservient before the Almighty.’

‘Ali ibn Muhammad al-Misri, the preacher, may Allah have mercy on him, said, ‘I have not heard anything better of knowledge than this.’

It is reported that Bishr al-Hafi, may Allah have mercy on him, said, ‘For forty years have I wished to place one hand on the other in the prayer and the only thing that prevented me from doing so was that I would have then shown a khushū‘ greater than that in my heart.’

Muhammad ibn Nasir al-Marwazi, may Allah have mercy on him, records with his isnad to Abu Hurayrah (radiyAllahu ‘anhū) that he said, ‘Mankind will be gathered on the Day of Rising in accordance to their performance of the prayer,’ one of the narrators depicted this by grasping his left hand with his right, and inclining his head.

He also records with his isnad to Abu Salih al-Sammān, may Allah have mercy on him, that he said, ‘People will be resurrected

Ibn Hajar, Fathu’l-Bāri, vol. 2, pg. 224, said, ‘The scholars said: the significance of this posture is that it is that taken by the humble petitioner, it is more likely to prevent fidgeting and is more conducive to khushū‘.’

Ibn Abi Shaybah, vol. 13, pg. 543 on the Day of Rising like this and he placed one of his hands on the other.

Understanding this meaning leads the one praying to remember the time when he will stand before Allāh, Most High, to be judged.

Dhūl-Nūn, may Allāh have mercy on him, would say when describing the servants (of Allāh), 'If only you could see one of them when they stood for prayer, standing in their place of prayer: it would cross his mind that place was the place in which Allāh would raise man to stand before the Lord of the Worlds, he would be completely taken aback and his very sanity would be shaken.' This was recorded by Abū Nu‘aym, may Allāh have mercy on him.

Amongst the actions of the servants’ facing forwards to Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent, and his not turning away to any other. This is of two types: the first is his heart not turning away from the One he is discoursing with, and its being totally devoted to the Lord, Mighty and Magnificent.

Muslim records on the authority of ‘Amr ibn ‘Abasah (radiy Allāhu ‘anhu) that the Prophet (ﷺ) mentioned the excellence and reward of ablution and then said, “So if he then stands and prays, praising and eulogising Allāh, magnifying Him as is befitting, and devoting his heart to Allāh, he will finish the prayer in a state like the day on which his mother gave birth to him.”

87 Muslim #832

Abū Dāwūd #425 records that the Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) said, “Five prayers which Allāh has made obligatory. Whoever performs the ablution well for them,
The second is his not looking left and right, instead restricting his gaze to the place of prostration.\(^{88}\) This is one of the necessary outcomes of the khushūʿ in the heart and its not turning away. This is why, when one of the Salaf saw a person fidgeting in the prayer, he remarked, ‘If the heart of this person had khushūʿ, his limbs would also show khushūʿ.’ This has been mentioned previously.

Ṭabarānī records the ḥadith of ibn Sīrīn on the authority of Abū Hurayrah (radiy Allāhu ‘anhu) who said, ‘The Prophet (ﷺ) would look left and right in prayer and then Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent, revealed,

\[\text{قَدْ أَفْلَحَ الْمُؤْمِنُونَ وَاللَّذِينَ هُمْ فِي صَلَائِهِمْ خَشَعُونَ} \]

“It is the believers who are successful; those who are humble in their prayer...”\(^{89}\)

So the Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) humbled himself and would not pray them on time, performs the bowing properly and has perfect khushūʿ, it is a promise from Allāh that he will be forgiven, but whoever does not do this has no such promise: if Allāh wishes, He will forgive him, and if He wishes, He will punish him.” It was ruled ṣaḥīḥ by Albānī, Ṣaḥīḥ al-Jāmi‘ #3242.

\(^{88}\) Hākim records on the authority of ‘Ā’ishah that ‘the Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) used to pray with his head tilted forward and his gaze lowered, looking at the ground.’ Hākim said it was ṣaḥīḥ with Dhahabi agreeing as did Albānī, Ṣaḥīḥ Salah, pg. 89

Hākim #1761 records on the authority of ‘Ā’ishah that ‘When the Prophet (ﷺ) entered the Ka’bah, his eyes never left the place of his prostration until he came out again.’ Hākim said it was ṣaḥīḥ with Dhahabi agreeing, as did Albānī, al-Irwa‘, vol.2, pg. 73.

Others have recorded this from Ibn Sirin, may Allah have mercy on him, as a mursal report, and this is more authentic.\(^91\)

Ibn Mājah records the hadith of Umm Salamah (rādiy Allāhu ‘anhā), the mother of the believers, who said, ‘During the time of the Prophet (ﷺ), when the people stood for prayer, their gaze would not go beyond the place of his feet. Then the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) passed away, and Abū Bakr (became the leader). When the people stood for prayer, their gaze would not go beyond the place of their foreheads (on the ground). Then Abū Bakr (rādiy Allāhu ‘anhu) passed away and ‘Umar (rādiy Allāhu ‘anhu) (became the leader). When the people stood for prayer, their gaze would not go beyond the place of the Qiblah. Then ‘Uthmān ibn Affān (rādiy Allāhu ‘anhu) became the leader and the tribulation happened and people began looking left and right.’\(^92\)

Bukhārī records on the authority of ‘Ā’ishah (rādiy Allāhu ‘anhā) who said, ‘I asked the Prophet (ﷺ) about looking (here and there) in prayer and he said, “It is a snatching away that Shayṭān steals from the servants’ prayer.”’\(^93\)

Imām Aḥmad, Abū Dāwūd, and Nasā’i record the hadith of Abū Dharr (rādiy Allāhu ‘anhu) that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “Allāh will remain turning to the servant in his prayer for as long as he does not look away. If he looks away, He will turn away.‘”

Imām Aḥmad and Tirmidhī record the ḥadīth of al-Ḥarīth ibn al-Ashʿarī that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “Allāh ordered Yahyā ibn Zakariyyah with five statements, that he act by them and enjoin the Children of Israel to act by them,” one of them was, “and I enjoin you to the prayer for Allāh sets His face to the face of His servant for as long as he does not look away. So when you pray, do not look (here and there).”‘”

There are many ḥadīths of this meaning.

‘Aṭā’ said, ‘I heard Abū Hurayrah saying, “When you pray, do not look (here and there) because he is privately talking to his Lord. His Lord is in front of him and he is privately talking to him, so do not turn (here and there).”‘” ‘Aṭā’, may Allāh have mercy on him, went on to say, ‘It has reached us that the Lord, Mighty and Magnificent, says, “Son of Ḥādīth, to whom do you look away to? I am better for you than the one you look away to.”‘”

96 Abdu'l-Razzāq #3270 and ibn Abī Shaybah, vol. 2, pg. 41
   Ibn Abī Shaybah, vol. 2, pg. 40 records that ibn Masʿūd said, ‘Allāh remains facing the servant for as long as he is in the prayer provided he does not speak or look away.’
Bazzār and others record this as a hadith of the Prophet (ﷺ) but it is more authentic as a saying of ʿAtā.

Abū ʿImrān al-Jawnī, may Allāh have mercy on him, said, ‘Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent, revealed to Mūsā (ʿalayhīs-salām), “Mūsā, when you stand before Me, then stand as a servant who is lowly and subservient, censure yourself for it is most deserving of censure, and talk to Me with a trembling heart and a truthful tongue.”

Amongst these actions is the bowing (ṣuḥūṭ) for this deed, outwardly, shows subservience. It is for this reason that the Arabs would scorn this deed and not perform it to the point that some of them tried to pledge allegiance to the Prophet (ﷺ) that they would fall to the ground directly from the standing posture, i.e. they would directly go into prostration without bowing, this is how Imam Ahmad, may Allāh have mercy on him, and the researching scholars explained the phrase they employed.

Allāh, Most High, says,

وَإِذَا قَلِيلٌ مِّنْهُمْ لَا يَرَكُونَ

“When they are told to bow, they do not bow.”

Submissiveness is completed in the bowing through the hearts’ submitting to Allāh and its being subservient to Him. As such the servant fulfils internal and external subservience to Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent. This is why the Prophet (ﷺ) would say in his bowing, “My heart, sight, bones, marrow, and whatever my foot carries are humbled to You.’”98 Here he stated that his khushū in the state of bowing had encompassed all his limbs, from the heart down. The heart is the greatest of these organs, indeed it is the king of the organs and limbs, so when it has khushū, the limbs will also have khushū.

97 al-Mursalat (77): 48

Amongst these actions is the prostration (sajdah), this action comprises the greatest outward manifestation of the servants subservience to his Lord, Mighty and Magnificent. The servant places his highest and most noble limb in the lowest position it can be in; he places it in the mud, rubbing it therein. This conduces the breaking of the heart, its meekness, and humility to Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent.

It is for this reason that the recompense of the believer when he does it is that Allāh will draw him closer for “The closest a servant is to his Lord is when he is prostrating,” as is authentically reported from the Prophet (ﷺ).99

Allāh, Most High, says,

> ﴿وَاسْجُدْ وَأَقْفِرْ﴾
> “Prostrate and draw close.”100

The polytheists, those who were too arrogant to worship Allāh, would scorn the prostration (as they did the bowing). Some of them would say, 'I find it abhorrent to prostrate because for my posterior would end up being higher than me!' and others would take a handful of pebbles and raise it to their foreheads, sufficing with that instead of prostrating.

Allah cast Iblis down because he was too arrogant to prostrate to one whom Allah ordered him to prostrate to. This is why he cries when the believing servant prostrates, saying, 'He ordered the son of Adam to prostrate and he did for which he is granted Paradise! I was ordered to prostrate but I disobeyed (Him) for which I will have the Fire.'

When in the posture of bowing or prostration, the servant completes his state of khushū‘, meekness, and subservience to his Lord by describing Him with the Attributes of might, grandeur, greatness, and highness. It is as if he is saying, 'Subservience and meekness are descriptions of me whereas highness, grandeur, and greatness are descriptions of You.' It is for this reason that it is legislated for the servant to say in his bowing, “Glory be to my Lord, the Great,” and in his prostration, “Glory be to my Lord, the Most High.” Sometimes, in prostration, the Prophet (ﷺ) would say, “Glory be to the One who has all kingdom, power, greatness, and grandeur.”

It is reported that one night, he (ﷺ) said in his prostration, “I say as my brother Dawūd (‘alayhi-salām) said: I rub my face in the dust to my Master, my Master deserves that faces be rubbed in al-Hasan, may Allâh have mercy on him, said, ‘When you stand in prayer, stand in due obedience as Allâh has ordered you, beware of negligence and looking (here and there), beware that Allâh be looking at you while you are looking at something else, asking Allâh for Paradise and taking refuge with Him from the Fire, yet your heart is heedless, not knowing what the tongue is saying.’ It was recorded by Muhammâd ibn Naʃr al-Marwâzi, may Allâh have mercy on him.

He also records with his isnâd to ‘Uthmân ibn Abû Dahrâsh who said, ‘It has reached me that the Messenger of Allâh (ﷺ) prayed a prayer in which he recited loudly. When he had finished he asked, “Did I forget anything of this chapter?” They replied, “We do not know.” Ubayy ibn Ka’b said, “Yes you did, this and this verse.” The Messenger of Allâh (ﷺ) said, “What is the matter with people! The Book of Allâh is recited to them yet they do not know what was recited and what was not! This is how the greatness of Allâh left the hearts of the Children of Israel: their bodies were present but their hearts were absent. Allâh does not accept the action of a servant until his heart is present with his body.”

He asked, ‘Ḥātim, have you made your prayer good?’ He replied, ‘Yes.’ He asked, ‘How do you pray?’ He replied, ‘I stand at the command, I walk in fear, I commence with the intention, I perform the takbir bearing in mind His greatness, I recite at a measured pace, carefully and with contemplation, I bow with khushū’, I prostrate in meekness, I sit and read the whole tashahhud, and then I perform the salām in accordance to the Sunnah. I pray with sincerity to Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent, and yet I fear that it will not be accepted of me; however I will preserve it as much as I can until I die.’ He said, ‘Keep talking for you have indeed excelled in your prayer.’

CHAPTER THREE

Supplication

Amongst the actions of worship that are conducive to subservience and khushūʿ to Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent, is the supplication (duʿāʾ).\(^{108}\) Allāh, Most High, says, \[\text{أَدْعُوُّ رَبِّيَّنِيَّ مَّعَنَا وَحَقِيقَةً} \]

"Call on your Lord humbly and secretly."\(^{109}\)

\[\text{إِنَّهُمْ كَانُوا يَطَالُبُونَ رَبَّهُمْ} \]
\[\text{فِي الْخَيْرَاتِ وَيَدْعُونَ كَانُوا يُعُدُّونَ أَنفُسَهُمْ} \]

"They outdid each other in good actions, calling out to Us in yearning and awe, and humbling

\(^{108}\) Duʿāʾ: to call out, to summon. Khattābī, Shaʿn al-Duʿāʾ, pg. 4 said, 'The meaning of duʿāʾ is the servants asking his Lord for His help and continued support. Its essence is that a person shows his need of Allāh and expresses his inability to change any matter himself or having any power and ability. This characteristic is the mark of servitude and exemplifies it. Duʿāʾ also carries with it the meaning of praising Allāh and attributing to Him generosity and grace.'

\(^{109}\) al-Aʿrāf (7): 55
themselves to Us.”\footnote{110}

One of the deeds that displays subservience in supplication is raising the hands. It is authentically reported that the Prophet (ﷺ) raised his hands when supplicating on many occasions, the most significant of which was the supplication for rain in which he raised them till the whiteness of his armpits was visible.\footnote{111} Similarly he would raise his hands high on the eve of ‘Arafah, when at ‘Arafah.

Ṭabarānī, may Allāh have mercy on him, records the ḥadīth of ibn ‘Abbās who said, ‘I saw the Prophet (ﷺ) supplicating at ‘Arafah and his hands were at the level of his chest, like a pauper begging for food.’\footnote{112}

One of the fearful would sit at night (in supplication), still, head bowed, and extending his hands forward like a beggar. This is one of the most emphatic displays of subservience and need.

The need of the heart, and its breaking before Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent, is also manifested in supplication coupled with its awareness of its dire want and destitution. It is in proportion to this yearning and need that the supplication is answered.

Aḥmad and Tirmidhī record that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “Allāh does not answer a supplication arising from a heedless and negligent heart.”

Subservience is also displayed through the tongue in its actual request and supplication, and in its persistence therein. Awzā’ī, may Allāh have mercy on him, said, ‘It was said: The best supplication is the one in which one is persistent and humbly entertains Him.’

Ṭabarānī records on the authority of ibn ‘Abbās (rādiy Allāhu anhum) that the Prophet (ﷺ) supplicated on the Day of ‘Arafah, “O Allāh, You can see where I am and hear my words; nothing of my affair is hidden from You. I am wretched and poor, seeking succour and refuge, fearful and apprehensive, and one acknowledging his sin. I ask You as the indigent asks, and I humbly petition You as a lowly sinner. I invoke You as one who is fearful and blind, with the supplication of one whose neck has submitted to You and whose body has humbled to You, whose nose has been rubbed in the dust, and whose tears are flowing copiously. O Allāh, do not make me one who is disappointed when calling on You and be good, kind, and merciful to me. O the best of those who are asked, the best of those who give!”

One of them would say in his supplication, ‘By Your might and my subservience, by Your self-sufficiency and my need.’

Ṭawūs, may Allāh have mercy on him, said, ‘One night, ‘Ali ibn

113 Ahmad #6655 on the authority of ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Amr and Tirmidhī #3479 on the authority of Abū Hurayrah and Tirmidhī said it was ḍharīb; both isnāds are ḍā‘if.

It was declared ḥasan by Albānī, al-Saḥīh #594, Saḥīh al-Targhīb #1653

al-Hasan, may Allâh have mercy on him, entered his private room and prayed. I heard him say in prostration, "Your servant is at Your courtyard, one in abject need of You is at Your courtyard, one needy of You is at Your courtyard petitioning You at Your courtyard." So I memorised these words and I have never supplicated with them at the time of distress except that I was relieved of it.' It was recorded by ibn Abî al-Dunyâ.

Ibn Bâkwayh, the Şûfî, may Allâh have mercy on him, narrated with his isnâd that one of the servants performed eighty pilgrimages on foot. While he was performing the tawâf saying, ‘My beloved, my beloved,’ a caller cried out, ‘Are you not content that you should be one who is humble and poor such that you too be beloved?’ He fainted on hearing this and afterwards would say, ‘One needy of You, one needy of You! I have repented from saying, “My beloved!”’
Loving the humble and poor

Ibn Mājah records the ḥadīth of Abū Sa‘īd al-Khudrī (радіya Аллăhu ‘anhu) that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “O Allâh, make me live as one lowly and humble (miskin), make me die as one lowly and humble, and resurrect me amongst the ranks of the lowly and humble.”

Tirmidhi records a similar ḥadīth on the authority of Anas (رادія Аллăhu ‘anhu) and adds, “Ā’ishah (رادія Аллăhu ‘anīhā) asked, ‘Messenger of Allâh, why do you say this?’ He replied, ‘Because they will enter Paradise forty years before the rich. Ā’ishah, never turn away one who is poor, even if you only find half a date to give him. Ā’ishah love the poor and keep them close for Allâh will bring you close on the Day of Rising.’”

Abū Dharr said, ‘The Messenger of Allâh (ﷺ) advised me to love the poor and to keep close to them.’ This was recorded by Imām Aḥmad and others.

In the story about the dream, narrated by Mu‘ādh (رادیя Аллăhu ‘anhu), the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “I ask You for the performance of good, the abandonment of evil, and the love of the poor.”\footnote{Ahmad #22109 and Tirmidhî #3235 and he said it was ḥasan sahih. The author has a treatise in explanation of this hadith entitled Ikhtiyār al-Awlā Sharh Ikhtisām al-Ma'ālā al-A'la [a forthcoming publication of Daar al-Sunnah under the title, “The Heavenly Dispute”].}

The word miskin in these ḥadiths and those like them refers to one whose heart is needy of Allāh, submissive and humble to Him, and his after shows this. This state is frequently found amongst those who are poor in terms of monetary wealth, for wealth often causes a person to transgress. The ḥadith of Anas (rādiy-Allāhu ‘anhu) supports this explanation, except that its isnād is ḍa‘if.

Nasā‘ī records the ḥadith of Abū Dharr (rādiy-Allāhu ‘anhu) that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “True poverty is the poverty of the self and true richness is the richness of the heart.”\footnote{Nasā‘ī, al-Kubra on the authority of Abū Dharr. Ibn Ḥibbān #685 also records it on the authority of Abū Dharr with the words, “True richness is the richness of the heart and true poverty is the poverty of the heart.” Arna‘ūt said that the isnād was sahih meeting the criteria of Muslim. cf. Ijlūnī, Kashf al-Khafa #1809.}

The Sahīh records that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “True richness only lies in the richness of the self.”\footnote{Bukhārī #6446 and Muslim #1051 on the authority of Abū Hurayrah.}

This is why Imām Ahmad, ibn ‘Uyaynah, ibn Wahb, and a group of the Imāms stated that the poverty that the Prophet (ﷺ) sought refuge from was the poverty of the self. Hence the one whose heart is in dire need of Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent, and is humble to Him is a

miskin, even if he be rich in monetary wealth. This is because the need of the heart must display on the limbs. Whoever is humble outwardly and displays need, but his heart is not humble, nor is it needy, is an arrogant tyrant.

Arrogance

Nasāʿī and others record that the Prophet (ﷺ) walked down a street where there was a black woman. A man said to her, ‘Make way!’ She said, ‘If he wishes he can walk past my right, and if he wishes he can walk past my left.’ The Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) said, “Let her be, she is a tyrant.” They said, ‘But Messenger of Allāh, she is just a pauper!’ He replied, “It is in her heart.”

al-Ḥasan, may Allāh have mercy on him, said, ‘Some people have modesty in their clothes and arrogance in their hearts. They wear woolen garments, yet, by Allāh, while wearing them, one of them has more arrogance than a person (reclining) on a raised couch or a person wearing embroidered silk.’

It is authentically reported that the Prophet (ﷺ) denied that wearing nice clothes and shoes was arrogance and said, “Arrogance is to reject the truth and to look down on people.”

120 Nasāʿī, al-Kubrā, vol. 6, pg. 143 on the authority of Abū Burdah from his father, and he stated that there was an unknown narrator in the isnād.

Haythami, vol. 1, pg. 99, also references it to Ṭabarānī, al-Awsaf and Abū Ya'llā #3276 on the authority of Anas and shows that the isnād has a ḍa'īf narrator. He states that Bazzār #3579 also records it and that he declares it ḍa'īf due to the presence of another narrator.

121 Muslim #91 on the authority of ibn Mas'ūd.
HUMILITY IN PRAYER

This ḥadīth makes it clear that wearing nice clothes is not arrogance and that arrogance is in the heart, i.e. its obdurately not submitting to the truth, looking down on people, and scorning them. Whoever thinks highly of himself, and, as a result, scorns people and refuses to submit to the truth, such a person is the one who is arrogant, even if his clothes and shoes be simple and worn out. However, whoever leaves wearing nice clothes out of true humility to Allāh for fear that he may fall prey to arrogance has done well. Ibn ‘Umar (rādiy Allāhu ‘anhu) would do this and the saying of the Prophet (ﷺ) concerning the checkered shirt he wore, “It has distracted me from my prayer,”¹²² also proves this.

The Prophet (ﷺ) chose the station of servitude rather than kingship. On the Day of Conquest, a man stood before him (ﷺ), trembling, so he said, “Go easy, I am not a king, I am just the son of a Qurayshi woman who used to eat strips of dried meat.”¹²³

It is authentically reported that he (ﷺ) said, “Do not falsely praise me as the Christians falsely praised the son of Mary, I am only a servant, so say: servant of Allāh and His Messenger.”¹²⁴

Arrogance

Imām Aḥmad, may Allāh have mercy on him, said: Muḥammad ibn Fuḍayl narrated to us; on the authority of ‘Umārah; on the authority of Abū Zur‘ah who said: I am sure that it was Abū Hurayrah (rādiy-Allāhu ‘anhu) who said, ‘Jibril sat with the Prophet (ṣallīllāhu ‘alayhi wa sallam) and looked to the sky to see an angel descending, he said, “This angel has not descended since the day it was created.” When he had descended he said, “O Muḥammad! Your Lord has sent me to you - should He make you a Prophet-King or a Servant-Messenger?” Jibril said, “O Muḥammad! Be humble before your Lord.” He said, “Rather a Servant-Messenger” 125

The standing of this is that praising him in other ways is permissible.” ‘Ali al-Qārī, Sharh Shama‘īl, vol. 2, pg. 161 said about his words, “I am only his servant...”, Meaning, I have no quality other than that of servitude and messengership; this is the peak of perfection that a created being can reach, so do not say anything about me that negates these two attributes and do not believe that I have a quality other than these two... the hadith indicate that it is permissible to describe him with anything that does not reach the boundaries of Lordship, rubūbiyyah, and Godship, ulūhiyyah.’

125 Aḥmad #7160 and ibn Hībbān #6365

Haythami, Majma‘ al-Zawā'id, vol. 9, pg. 19 and Albānī, Tahqiq Bidāyati l-Ash’s al-Sayf, said that its isnād was ṣaḥīh meeting the criteria of Bukhārī and Muslim.

Ibn Taymiyyah said, ‘The Messenger-Servant is one who only does that which he is commanded, hence everything he does is worship of Allāh; he is a pure servant, dispensing the order of the One who sent him as is established in Bukhārī #3117 that he (ṣallīllāhu ‘alayhi wa sallam) said, “By Allāh, I do not grant anybody anything not prevent anybody from anything. I am only a distributor; I place things where I am ordered.” Meaning, ‘I do not give except where I am ordered to give and I do not prevent except where I am ordered to prevent, I only obey Allāh in this.’ This is in contrast to the Prophet-King who is allowed to dispense with some affairs as he wills, Allāh says about such a Prophet-King, Sulaymān, “...so We subjected to him the wind blowing gently by his command wherever he directed, and also the devils [of jinn] - every builder and diver and others bound together in shackles. [We said], ‘This is Our gift, so grant or withhold without account’.”
One of the mursal reports of Yahyā ibn Abū Kathīr, may Allāh have mercy on him, has that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “I eat what a slave eats, I sit as a slave sits, I am merely a slave.” This was recorded by ibn Sa‘d, Ẓabqāt.126

He also records via the route of Abū Ma‘shar, on the authority of al-Maqbari, on the authority of ‘Ā‘ishah (raḍī Allāhu ‘anha) that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “An angel came to me and said, ‘Your Lord extends the salām to you and says, “If you wish, you may be a Prophet-King, and if you wish, you may be a Servant-Messenger.”’ Jibrīl indicated that I should humble my self so I said, ‘A Prophet-Servant.’” ‘Ā‘ishah said, ‘After that, the Prophet (ﷺ) never ate while reclining and he would say, “I eat as a slave eats and I sit as a slave sits.”’127

One of the mursal reports of Zuhri, may Allāh have mercy on him, has, ‘It has reached us that an angel came to the Prophet (ﷺ) that had previously never come to him accompanied by Jibrīl. Jibrīl was silent and the angel said, “Your Lord has given you the choice of being a Prophet-King or a Prophet-Servant.” The Prophet (ﷺ) looked at Jibrīl (‘alayhis-salām) as if seeking advice, =

[Sād(38): 36-39], meaning ‘give as you wish and withhold as you wish, either way you will not be judged.’ The Prophet-King does what Allāh has obligated upon him and leaves what Allāh has prohibited, and is free to act as he wills with regards the worldly authority and wealth granted him without incurring any sin. However the Servant-Messenger does not give to anyone or withhold from anyone, except by the order of his Lord...as such all his actions constitute worship of Allāh, Exalted is He.” cf. and he indicated that he should be humble so the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said, “A Prophet-Servant.””

Zuhri said, ‘They would think that from that time till the day he left this world, the Prophet (ﷺ) never ate in a reclining posture.’

Ahmad and Tirmidhi record on the authority of Abū Umāmah (radyAllāhu ‘anhu) that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “My Lord offered to make the plain and pebbles of Mecca gold but I said, ‘No, my Lord! Rather I (would prefer) to eat my fill one day and to go hungry another,’” or he said “three days” or similar words, “When I go hungry, I would turn to You in humble entreaty and remember You, and when I am full, I would thank You and praise You.””

One of the Gnostics said, ‘Whoever claims servitude, yet some personal objective and gain remains that he looks to, he has belied his claim. Servitude can only truly be attached to one whose personal objectives have vanished and only the objectives of his Master remain in his mind. His only name would be that attached to His, his only description would be one of communion with Him. If he is summoned in His name, he answers by way of servitude. He has no name or designation left and he only responds to one who calls him to the servitude of his Master,’ then he read the following couplets 128 Ibid.

129 Ahmad #22190 and Tirmidhi #2347 who said it was ḥasan. The wording of “three days” is recorded by Tabarānī, al-Kabīr #7835

Albānī, Tahqiq Bida‘yatul-Sūl, pg. 63 ruled the first part of the hadith to be authentic due to supporting witnesses and the second part commencing with “I would be full...” to be munkar; Arna‘ūṭ said that the isnād was da‘īf jiddan.

(Technically), khushū’ refers to the heart standing before the Lord in submissiveness, subservience, and focusing on Him.

It is also said that khushū’ is to submit to the truth, however (the truth is that) this is one of its results. Therefore, amongst the signs of khushū’ is that when the servant opposes the truth and is reminded of it, he accepts and willing returns to it.

It is said that khushū’ is the abating of the flames of lusts in the servants’ breast and the dissipation of their smoke; replacing in their stead the blaze of the greatness (of Allāh) in the heart.

Junaid said, ‘Khushū’ is the humbling of hearts to the One who knows the unseen.’

The Gnostics have agreed that the seat of khushū’ is the heart and that its fruits sprout on the limbs and they display it. The Prophet (ﷺ) saw a man playing with his beard while praying and remarked, “If the heart of this person was humble, so too would his limbs be.”

The Prophet (ﷺ) said, “Taqwā is here,” pointing to his breast, 137 Taqwā: to ward off evil.

Talq ibn Ḥabīb said upon being asked about taqwā, ‘That you perform the obedience of Allāh upon a light from Allāh, hoping for the reward of Allāh. You leave disobedience to Allāh upon a light from Allāh, fearing the punishment of Allāh.’
and he said this three times.\textsuperscript{138}

One of the Gnostics said, ‘Fine conduct on the outer is a clear indication of fine conduct on the inward. One of them saw a person showing \textit{khusbū} on his shoulders and body and said, ‘O such-and-such, \textit{khusbū} is here,’ pointing to his breast, ‘not here,’ pointing to his shoulders.

One of the Companions, Hudhayfah, would say, ‘Take refuge with Allāh from hypocritical \textit{khusbū}.’ When asked what it was, he replied, ‘That you see the body humble and submissive while the heart is not.’\textsuperscript{139}

Ibn al-Qayyim, \textit{ar-Risālah al-Tabūkīyyah}, p. 27, said, ‘This is the best that has been said concerning the definition of taqwā for indeed every action must have a beginning cause to it and an objective. An action can never be considered to be obedience and a cause to draw one closer to Allāh until its point of commencement and cause be unadulterated faith, not habit, not base desires, not the wish for praise and position, nor other such things. Its objective must be the reward that lies with Allāh and His good-pleasure, this being the definition of \textit{iḥtiṣāḥ}. This is why we often find the combined mention of these two foundations such as in his (ира) saying, “Whoever fasts the month of Ramadān out of faith and \textit{iḥtiṣāb}…”

His saying, ‘upon a light from Allāh’ points to the first foundation which is faith. His saying, ‘hoping for the reward of Allāh’ points to the second foundation which is \textit{iḥtiṣāb}.’

not on the neck but in the heart.’

‘Ā’ishah (rādiy Allāhu ‘anha) saw some youth trying to walk with an air of quietude, so she asked, ‘Who are they?’ Her colleagues replied, ‘Ascetics.’ She said, ‘When ‘Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb walked, he walked rapidly; when he spoke, he was heard; when he struck someone, it hurt; when he fed (the poor), he made sure they ate to their fill; he was the true ascetic!’

Fudayl ibn ‘Iyād said, ‘It used to be disliked for a person to display more khusbū’ than was in his heart.’

Ḥudhayfah said, ‘The first thing you will lose of your religion will be khusbū and the last thing you will lose of your religion will be the prayer, and it is well possible that there is no good in a person who prays, and soon will come a time when you shall enter a large Masjid and not see a single person with khusbū’.

Sahl said, ‘The person whose heart has khusbū’ will not go near Shaytān.’

Ibn al-Qayyim on Hypocritical Khushū'

The difference between (true) khushū' engendered by faith and the hypocritical khushū' is that the former takes place in the heart to Allāh and is conducted by veneration, magnification, sobriety, dignity, and shyness. The heart breaks for Allāh, combining dread, bashfulness, love, and shyness with the perception of Allāh’s blessings and one’s own transgressions. This necessarily engenders khushū' in the heart which is then followed by khushū' on the limbs.

Hypocritical khushū', on the other hand, appears on the limbs; it is a mere pretence, the person affecting something that is not there since the heart is void of khushū'. One of the Companions would say, ‘I take refuge with Allāh from hypocritical khushū’.' When asked what it was, he replied, ‘That you see the body humble and submissive while the heart is not.'

The one who has khushū' for the sake of Allāh is a servant, in the breast of whom the flames of desires have abated and their smoke has dissipated, replacing in their stead radiance. The blaze of the greatness (of Allāh) has been ignited, and the lusts of the soul have died in the face of fear and sobriety which have, in turn, stilled the limbs and quietened the heart. The heart is content and at peace with Allāh, and it remembers Him; engulfed in the effusion of tranquillity descending from its Lord, it becomes meek and humble (mukhbit). The heart which is meek is the heart which is at peace and rest for the land which is mukhbit is land which is low-lying to which water flows and settles. The same applies to the heart: when it is mukhbit, i.e. it has achieved khushū', it becomes like this piece of low-lying land to which water flows and settles.

The sign of such a heart is that (its owner) will prostrate before Allāh out of magnification and abject humility, broken before Him, never (desiring) to raise his head till the day he meets Him. This is the khushū' engendered by faith.

The arrogant heart, on the other hand, heaves and swells in its arrogance like a fast flowing river. It is like an elevated portion of the land at which water never settles. This is hypocritical khushū': the person feigns quietude and affects stillness of limb by way of ostentation. In reality, his soul is raging with lusts and desires; outwardly he displays khushū', but inwardly the valley serpent and jungle lion lurk between his shoulders, waiting to pounce on the prey.\textsuperscript{142}

APPENDIX III

The Ruling of Khushūʿ in Prayer

Shaykhul-Islām ʿAbd al-Barr b. ʿAbd al-Rahmān b. ʿAbd al-Muʾmin al-Baṣāri, may Allāh have mercy upon him.
The Ruling of Khushūʿ in Prayer

Shaykhul-Islām ibn Taymiyyah said:

Allāh, Most High, says,

وإنها لكبيرة إلا على الحشيمين

"...but that is a very hard thing, except for the humble."\(^{143}\)

This signifies the censure of those who do not have khushūʿ. Similar statements indicating censure are,

وَمَا جَعَلْنَا الْيَسِيلَةَ الَّتِي كَانَتْ عَلَيْهَا إِلَّا لِنَطْلُ مِنْ بَيْنِهِ الرَّسُولِ

مِنْ يَقُولُ عَلَى عَقِبَةِ وَإِنَّ كَانَتْ لِكَبِيرَةِ إِلَّا عَلَى الْأَلْبَيْنِ

هَذِئَ اللَّهُ

"We only appointed the direction you used to face in order to know those who follow the Messen-

\(^{143}\) al-Baqara (2): 45
ger from those who turn round on their heels. Though in truth it is a very hard thing - except for those Allāh has guided.”

“...What you call the polytheists to follow is very hard for them.”

The Book of Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent, shows that whoever finds what Allāh loves hard to bear is blameworthy in the religion and receives Allāh’s displeasure. Censure and displeasure only come ones way when an obligation is left or a prohibition is committed. Therefore if those who do not have khushū’ are censured, its obligation is proven.

It is known that the reference to khushū’ in His saying, must incorporate khushū’ in the prayer, otherwise the meaning becomes nonsensical, since it would mean that ṣalāh is hard except for one who has khushū’ outside of it and not in it, as such it would mean that it is hard for those who have khushū’ in the prayer but not hard for those who have it outside of the prayer!

“...but that is a very hard thing, except for the humble.”

144 al-Baqarah (2): 143

145 al-Shūrā (42): 13

146 al-Baqarah (2): 45
The verse would then become pointless. As such, this verse then proves that khusbū is obligatory in the prayer.

The obligation of having khusbū in prayer is also proven by His saying,

\[\text{فَذَأَفَّلَحُ النَّبِيُّ} \\
\text{١٠٠َالأَنَّاسُ هُمُ ٱلنَّبِيُّ هُمُ فِي صَلاَتِهِنَّ خَيْفَةُ} \\

“It is the believers who are successful: those who are humble in their prayer; those who turn away from worthless talk; those who pay the alms-tax; those who guard their private parts - except from their wives or those they own as slaves, in which case they are not blameworthy; but those who desire anything more than that are people who have gone beyond the limits - those who honour their trusts and their contracts; those who safeguard their prayer; such people are the inheritors who will inherit Firdaws, remaining in it timelessly, forever.”

Allāh, Glorious and Most High, informs us that it is these who will inherit Firdaws thereby showing that others will not do so; as such, this proves the obligation of having the qualities mentioned therein. This is because, were they recommendations, Firdaws could still be attained without them, since Paradise can be attained by the performance of obligatory deeds without the recommended. It is for this reason that only obligations are mentioned in these verses.

\[147\text{ al-Mu'minūn (23): 1-11}\]

Khushū‘ is obligatory and comprises quietude and humility. In this respect is the saying of 'Umar (radyAllāhu ‘anhu) when he saw a person fidgeting in his prayer, “If the heart of this person was humble, so too would his limbs be,” meaning they would be stilled and submissive.

Allāh, Most High, says,

وَمَنْ امْتَنِعَنَّ يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ خَيْرَةً إِذَا أَرَّكُمْ عَلَيْهَا الْمَهَالِ
أَهْيَأْتُ وَرَبِّ

“Among his Signs is that you see the earth laid bare and then when We send down water on it, it quivers and swells.”148

Here, He informs us that after having had khushū‘, the earth quivers and swells, i.e. raises (with vegetation), this then proves that its khushū‘ was stillness and lowness.

It is for this reason that the Prophet (ﷺ) would say in his bowing, “O Allāh, to You have I bowed, in You have I believed, and to You have I submitted: my hearing, sight, bones, and marrow are humbled to You,” as recorded by Muslim. 149 Here he described himself with khushū' because the one bowing is still and in a posture of humility....

Khushū' is obligatory, as such the one who pecks on the ground like a crow when prostrating has not displayed khushū' therein. Similarly, one who does not fully return to (the standing posture) from bowing, before going down for prostration, has not been calm and still. Calmness (sukūn) is the exact same thing as tranquility (tuma’ninah). The person who was not calm in his bowing or his prostration has not shown khushū' in them. The person who does not have khushū' is sinful as we have just explained.

Amongst the proofs that khushū' is obligatory is that the Prophet (ﷺ) threatened people who left it, as in the case of a person who raises his gaze to the sky; this motion and this looking is at odds to khushū'.* Anas (rādī Allāhu ‘anhu) records that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “What is the matter with people that they raise their gazes in their prayers?” He severely reprimanded those who did it saying, “They must stop or their sight will be snatched away!” 150 Jābir ibn Samurah reports that  ‘The Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) entered the Masjid to see people praying while looking up at the sky and said, “People must stop looking up at the sky or their sight will not return to them!” 151 The first was recorded by Bukhārī and the second by Muslim, and both are recorded by Abū Dawūd, Nasā’ī, and ibn Mājah.

Ibn Sirīn said, ‘The Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) would look up in prayer and when Allāh, Mighty and Magnificent, revealed, his sight never left the place of his prostration.’ This was recorded by Aḥmad, al-Nāṣikh wa’l-Mansūkh. Now, because raising ones sight to the sky goes against khusbū', the Prophet (ﷺ) prohibited it and threatened the one who did it.

As regards looking around, this reduces khusbū' but does not negate it. This is why looking around decreases (the reward) of prayer; Bukhārī, Abū Dāwūd, and Nasā'ī record that ‘Ā’ishah (radiy Allāhu ‘anhu) said, ‘I asked the Prophet (ﷺ) about looking (here and there) in prayer and he said, “It is a snatching away that Shayṭān steals from the servants’ prayer.”’ Abū Dāwūd and Nasā’ī record the ḥadīth of Abūl-Aḥwaṣ from Abū Dharr (radiy Allāhu ‘anhu) that the Prophet (ﷺ) said, “Allāh will remain turning to the servant in his prayer for as long as he does not look away. If he looks away, He will turn away.”

There is no harm in looking around if there is a need to do so. Abū Dāwūd records on the authority of Sahl ibn Ḥanzāliyyah, are done for a need. If, however, they are done without need, they would be regarded as mere fidgeting which negates khushū', and is prohibited in prayer.

The obligation of khushū' is also proven by the hadīth reported by Tamīm al-Ṭā'ī from Jābir ibn Samurah (ra'dī: Allāhu 'anhu) who said, ‘The Messenger of Allāh (sawv) entered in upon us and the people were raising their hands - the narrator, Zuhayr ibn Mu‘āwiyyah said that he thought that was in the prayer – and he said, “What is the matter that I see you raising your hands as if they are the tails of headstrong horses, be calm in the prayer.”’ This was recorded by Muslim, Abū Dāwūd, and Nasā‘ī. They also record on the authority of ‘Ubaydullāh ibn al-Qibṭiyyah from Jābir ibn Samurah who said, ‘When we would pray behind the Messenger of Allāh (sawv) and performed the salām, we would wave our hands to the right and to the left. When the Messenger of Allāh (sawv) had completed the prayer, he said, “What is the matter with you that he moves his hands as if they were tails of headstrong horses, it suffices you to do this - and he pointed with his finger - and to say the salām to his brother on the right and left.” Another narration has, “Does it not suffice one of you - or one of them - to keep his hand on his thigh and say the salām to his brother on his right and left?” The wording of Muslim has, ‘We prayed with the Messenger of Allāh (sawv), when we said the salām we would motion with our hands saying, “Peace be with you.” The Messenger of Allāh (sawv) looked at us and said, “What is the matter with you that you motion with your hands as if they were the tails of headstrong horses. When one of you says the salām, let him face his neighbour and not motion with the hand.”

Here the Prophet (ﷺ) ordered calmness in the prayer, the whole prayer, and calmness cannot come about without tranquility. Whoever is not tranquil is not calm, and the command for calmness accords to Allāh’s command for khushū’....

Ibn Taymiyah also said,

With regards to the report in which ‘Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb said, ‘I make plans for the army whilst I am praying,’ this was because ‘Umar was commanded to engage in Jihād and, since he was the leader of the believers, he was also the leader of Jihād. Therefore, in some respects, he was like the one who prays the prayer of fear when the enemy has been sighted, regardless of whether actual fighting is happening or not. He was commanded to pray and to engage in Jihād, so he had to carry out both duties to the best of his ability. Allāh says,

\text{‘O you who believe! When you meet a troop, stand firm and remember Allāh repeatedly so that hope-} fully you will be successful.\textsuperscript{170}

It is known that one cannot achieve the same tranquillity of heart during Jihād as attained at times of peace and security, so if it happens that a person’s prayer is lacking because of Jihād, this does not impute the completion of a persons prayer or obedience.

For this reason, prayer at times of danger is lighter than prayer at times of peace. When Allāh mentioned the prayer at times of danger, He said,

\textit{\textbf{\textit{إِذَا أَطْمَأَنتُمْ فَأَقْسَمُوا الصَّلَاةَ إِلَى الصَّلَاةَ}}
\textit{كَانَتْ عَلَى الْمُؤْمِنِينَ كِتَابًا مُّقْرَطًا}}

‘... but when you are safe again, perform prayer in the normal way. Verily, the prayer is prescribed for the believers at specified times.’\textsuperscript{171}

Hence the one who is commanded to establish prayer at times of peace is not commanded to do so in the same manner at times of danger.

Moreover, people are of varying levels in this regard. If a person’s faith is strong, he will have the proper presence of mind when he prays, even if he thinks of other matters. Allāh had placed the truth firmly in ‘Umar’s heart and on his tongue, and he was one who was inspired, so there is nothing strange in a person of his calibre making plans for the army whilst, at the same time,

\textsuperscript{170} \textit{al-Anfāl} (8):45

\textsuperscript{171} \textit{al-Nisā’} (4):103
focusing on his prayer. He was able to do this, whilst others are not, but undoubtedly when he did not have these concerns to think about, his focus on the prayer would be greater. Likewise, no doubt the prayer of the Prophet (ﷺ), in terms of outward actions, at times of safety was more perfect than at times of danger. If, in the prayer of fear, Allâh has made allowances with regard to some of the outward obligations of the prayer, what then about the internal aspects?

In conclusion, a person who is pressed for time thinking about some obligatory matter whilst he is praying is not the same as his thinking about some matter that is not obligatory. It may be that 'Umar could not give thought to making plans for the army except at that time because he was the leader of the nation with many obligations and responsibilities. Anyone could find himself in a similar situation in accordance to his position. People always think about things during prayer that they do not think of at other times, and some of this could come from Shaytân. A man told one of the Salaf that he had buried some money but he had forgotten where he had buried it. He told him, 'Go and pray,' so he went and prayed, and he remembered where it was. It was asked of him, 'How did you know that would happen?' He said, 'I know that the Shaytân will not leave him alone when he prays without reminding him of what concerns him, and the most pressing concern on this persons mind was where he buried his money.' The intelligent servant, however, will strive to attain perfect presence of mind in prayer, just as he strives to do everything else that he is commanded to do well. There is no might or motion except in Allâh, the Most High, the Almighty.” 172

Index of Sects

Ahlul-Kalām: Adherents to speculative theology, people seeking to explain the articles and premises of belief and to give evidences for them based on philosophy and logic.

Bāṭiniyyah: A sect of the Shi'a, the followers of Ismā'īl ibn Ja'far. They were of the belief that the legal texts were merely superficial expressions carrying inner meanings that oppose what is outwardly understood of them, examples lie with their explanations of Paradise, Hell and the Last Day.

Hashwīyyah: A term frequently used by the innovators to refer to Ahlul-Sunnah, the Ahlull-Hadith, those who affirmed the Attributes of Allāh. The first to use this term was ‘Amr ibn ‘Ubaid al-Mu’tazili who said that ‘Abdullāh ibn ‘Umar bin al-Khaṭṭāb was a Hashwī.

Jāhāriyyah: Followers of the school of Jahm ibn Ṣafwān in his belief that all actions are decreed by Allāh and man has no control over them at all, instead he is forced to do what he does.

Jāhmiyyah: Followers of Jahm ibn Ṣafwān in his denial of the Names and Attributes of Allāh.
Index of Arabic Words

Aušīrah: plural of wali; friend, ally, loyal companion. From the word wila‘ah meaning loyalty and closeness, the opposite of enmity.

Barzakh: barrier, isthmus. A barrier that is erected between the deceased and this life preventing him from returning and a generic reference to the life that commences after death.

Bid‘ah: innovation, that which is newly introduced into the religion of Allāh.

Da‘if: weak; the hadith that is neither sahih nor hasan because it fails to meet one of their requirements. It is of varying degrees of severity, the most severe of which being mawdū‘, fabricated.

Du‘a: supplication, invocation, it is an action of worship that may only be directed to Allāh. It is of two types, supplication through worship (du‘a ‘ibādah) and supplication of request (du‘a mas‘alah). The first type of du‘a can be understood when one understands that every act of worship is done with the unstated plea that Allāh accept that action of worship and the desire to draw closer to him; and hence attain His pleasure. Hence every action of worship is a type of request to Allāh. The second type of du‘a is whereby one explicitly asks his Lord of something such as ‘O Allāh! Grant me good in this world and the Hereafter.’ The second type includes the first type and the first type necessitates the second type.

Hadith: A text attributed to the Prophet (saw) describing his actions, words, descriptions and tacit approvals. It consists of two portions, the body of the text (maw‘ūn) and the isnād. Rarely the term is also used to refer to a text attributed to a Companion or a Sāḥib.

Hāfiz pl. hujjāt. Hadith Master, commonly referred to one who has memorised at least 100,000 hadiths.

Hasan: good, fair. A hadith whose isnād is continuously linked of just, morally upright narrators but whose precision (dahil) falls short of the requirements of the sahih hadith; containing no irregularity (shūdāb) and no hidden defect (‘ilah). A hadith can be hasan in and of itself, or contain a defect but still be ruled to be so due to supporting evidences.

I‘tiyān: beneficence, excellence. To worship Allāh as if one is seeing Him, and knowing that even though one sees Him not, He sees the servant.

Ikhlās: sincerity, to strip oneself of worshiping any besides Allāh such that everything one does is performed only to draw closer to Him and for His pleasure. It is to purify ones actions from any but the Creator having a share in them, from any defect or self-desire. The one who has true ikhlās (mukhlis) will be free of riya‘.

Imān: The firm belief, complete acknowledgement and acceptance of all that Allāh and His Messenger have commanded to have faith in, submitting to it both inwardly and outwardly. It is the acceptance and belief of the heart that includes the actions of the heart and body, therefore it encompasses the establishment of the whole religion. This is why the Imāms and Salaf used to say, ‘Faith is the statement of the heart and tongue, action of the heart, tongue and limbs.’ Hence it comprises statement, action and belief, it increases through obedience and decreases through disobedience. It includes the beliefs of faith, its morals and manners and the actions demanded by it.

Isnād support. The chain of authorities on which a narration is based, linking the end narrator of a narration to the one it is attributed to, be it the Prophet (ﷺ) or anyone else, narrator by narrator.

Khalifah: successors. A reference to those who followed a path other than the path of the Salaf.

Khalifah: pl. khalifah. Successor, representative. The Successors of the Prophet (ﷺ), head of the Islāmic state. Also called Amir al-Mu'minin or Leader of the Believers.

Khushū: submissiveness, humility.

Kafr: denial, rejection, hiding, technically referring to disbelief. It can be major (removing a person from the fold of Islām) or minor (not removing a person from the fold of Islām).

Qur'an: The actual Word of Allāh revealed to the Prophet (ﷺ) in the Arabic language through the medium of the Angel Gabriel and the greatest miracle bestowed him. It consists of 114 chapters commencing with al-Fātihah and ending with an-Nās.

Riyā: showing off, ostentation, an example of which lies in person beautifying actions of worship because he knows people are watching.

Sahih: correct, authentic. A hadith which has a continuously linked ismād, of just, morally upright and precise narrators; containing no irregularity (shābīh) or hidden defect ('illah). Hence five conditions have to be met: the ismād being continuously linked; the justice ('adl) of the narrator; the precision (dāh) of the narrator; its not being shābīh; and its not containing an 'illah. The hadith can be sahih in and of itself, or it can contain a defect but still be ruled to be sahih due to supporting evidences.

Salaf: predecessors. Technically used to refer to the best generations of Muslims, the first three generations: the Sabābīn, the Tabi'in and the Tab' Tabī'in due to the hadith, “The best of people are my generation, then the one that follows, then the one that follows.”

Shirk: association, technically referring to directing a right that is due to Allāh Alone to another object of creation, either completely or partially. It can be major (removing a person from the fold of Islām) or minor (not removing a person from the fold of Islām).

Sunnah: way, path. The actions, words, descriptions, commands, prohibitions and tacit approvals of the Prophet (ﷺ).

Tabi'in: The generation following that of the Companions.

Tab' Tabi'in: The generation following that of the Tabi'in.

Ta'awūs: the basic meaning of which is setting a barrier between two things. This is why it is said that one ittiqā with his shield, i.e. he set it as a barrier between him and the one who wished him evil. Therefore it is as if the one who has ta'aww (muttaqī) has used his following the commands of Allāh and avoiding His prohibitions as a barrier between himself and the Punishment. Hence he has preserved and fortified himself against the punishment of Allāh through his obeying Him.

Tawḥīd: unification, monotheism, the belief in the absolute Oneness of Allāh. It is to believe that Allāh Alone is the creator, nourisher, and sustainer of the worlds; it is to believe that Allāh Alone deserves to be worshipped; and it is to believe that He has unique and perfect Names and Attributes that far transcend anything that one can imagine.
